GOOD NEWS: Divine Indwelling

Yuri Gagarin, the first Russian space-traveller, reported that in the great up-there he had seen no evidence of heaven, much less of God. But a priest of the Russian Orthodox Church replied: "How could anybody see God up there if he had not first met God in here," pointing to his heart. The eye of faith is in the heart, not in physical sight. The Easter readings greatly emphasise the transition from the outer contact (as the world sees) to inner challenge.

One of the key discoveries of prayer-life is in recognising that spring of the Spirit within the heart.

'He is with you, he is in you.'

It is to advance from talking about God out-there to knowing the warm presence of God in-here: to come from a cold, impersonal attitude to God in a personal relationship with Father, Son and Holy Spirit. It means growing from a religion of serving God in the out-house to living with God in the inner rooms of the soul. Theologians have called it the indwelling of God.

Indwelling means that my soul is at home in God: and God is at home in my soul. 'On that day you will understand that I am in my father and you in me and I in you.'

Did you know that our word 'enthusiasm' comes from the Greek word for in-God? The word was originally used to express the zeal for God shown by those who felt the powerful presence of God in their hearts.

The surest test that this zeal is genuine will be obedience to the Father's commandments. 'If you love me you will keep my commandments.' When the Spirit is the dynamic source of energy in the soul, the observance of the commandments will not be regarded as a heavy burden, it will be the soul's delight: just as the Father's will was the food that sustained the energy of Jesus.

We have a traditional list of seven gifts which distinguish the ways in which the Holy Spirit is the light and strength of God in the souls.

The Spirit's gift of wisdom elevated the mind's vision to the height and breadth of God's timeless, comprehensive view of all affairs.

Understanding is the gift that enables the mind to grasp and accept the truths of faith. Without this inner light one labours with the mind of the 'world': 'it neither sees nor knows him.'

Knowledge enables the mind to recognise the hand of God in all created things and in the everyday affairs of life. In particular it raises the mind to share in God's view of people and their complexities.

Counsel directs us towards making the proper choices: it enlightens the conscience in making moral judgments: and gives discernment in the direction of souls.

God's presence in the souls is a source of great fortitude: in this gift one meets with a courage and serenity beyond human explanation.

Piety is the divine gift with fills the soul with prayerfulness and zeal for the worship of the true God.

The seventh gift of the spirit-within is a proper, reverential fear of God. It is seen in humility of mind before the inscrutable designs of God. And is heard in the language that deeply respects the name and operations of God.

The Spirit of God dwells in the soul and is truly that spring of water which Jesus promised, 'a spring inside, welling up to eternal life.'

"The waters of a river give joy to God's city,
the holy place where the Most High dwells.
God is within it cannot be shaken.' (Psalm 45)

Humour One day a little girl was sitting and watching her mother do the dishes at the kitchen sink. She suddenly noticed that her mum had several strands of white hair sticking out in contrast on her brunette head. She looked at her mother and inquisitively asked, "Why are some of your hairs white, Mum?" Her mother replied, "Well every time you do something wrong and make me cry or unhappy one of my hairs turns white. The little girl thought about this and said Mum, how come ALL of grandma's hairs are white?"

Spirituality for Life

The voice of the Spirit speaking of gratitude, generosity, responsibility and increase

Each one of you has received a special grace, so, like good stewards responsible for all these varied graces of God, put it out at the service of others.”
(1 Peter 4:10)

May 21, 2017 Sixth Sunday of Easter

“For it is better to suffer for doing good, if that be God’s will, than for doing evil.”

1 PETER 3:17 The old line says “if you want to make God laugh, tell him your plans.” Many of us are diligent in our planning, making sure things are progressing smoothly, then disaster strikes, we don’t get the result that was intended. An unforeseen problem arises. Many times we may respond negatively. Why me? I did everything right! Here’s the thing – God has a different and better plan in store for you. (Accessed from <http://archstl.org/stewardship/page/bulletin-inserts> on 12th May, 2017)

LIVING AS A STEWARD – CREATION AND STEWARDSHIP

Christians see human achievements as ‘a sign of God’s greatness and the flowering of his own mysterious design.’ (Guadium et Spes, 34)

God settled humankind upon earth to be its steward – “to cultivate and care for it” (Genesis 2:15).

This human activity of cultivating and caring has a generic name: work. It is not a punishment for or a consequence of sin. . . God’s mandate to humankind to collaborate with him . . . comes before the Fall. Work is a fundamental aspect of the human vocation. It is necessary for human happiness and fulfillment. It is intrinsic to responsible stewardship of the world.

At my local supermarket, there is a checkout clerk who is always smiling. The clerk even smiles to those who are mean, abrupt, difficult, in a hurry, pressured. Why I asked? Well, because this is my vocation! I know many of these people are hurting. At least I can try to make their day a little better, and maybe they will go on to be nicer to someone else in turn – their kids, their spouse, someone else in traffic.

Questions:

Do you see your work as a vocation?

In what ways could you make your job more of a vocation?

We must be faithful in using the gifts that we receive from God. It is easy to be faithful and appreciate the spiritual gifts God shares with us . . . But I must also be faithful to what I would call my personal possession. Stewardship challenges us to ask whether anything we ‘own’ is really personal. Whatever we ‘own’ impacts our own lives and the lives of others. Our possessions callus to a sense of accountability and responsibility. Just as God is faithful to us in ways we never dreamed possible, we must be faithful to God by daring to see the face of God in others. Stewardship calls us to a new sense of collaboration with God where we are accountable and responsible. Archbishop Thomas Murphy

‘Being a Christian is a perilous adventure of faith. It is not a lifestyle decision such as dieting or going to the gym. It involves taking a risk. The risk averting society of today is not challenging the young people to love. As it has been said by Herbert McCabe, my brother Dominican “if you love you may get hurt, you may be killed, but if you do not love you are dead already.”

Conscience is Listening to the voice of the Lord as he echoes in your heart, mostly in whispers.

Timothy Radcliffe OP
